About Meals from the Heartland

Established in 2008, Meals from the Heartland empowers people to save starving children, focused on both feeding people and giving people a heart for volunteering and giving back to their communities. Meals from the Heartland has a goal to package millions of meals annual to be distributed in Iowa, across the United States, and internationally. The non-profit organization's food products are not donated, relying entirely on charitable donations to buy the food packaged for meals.
